On Moran Rack in Campaign Fund Inquiry LODGE FACES JURY

Senior Senator Questioned as to Methods of Financing Republican Party.
Other Organization Leaders to Come Before Grand Jury When He is Excused.

United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is before the Grand Jury of Suffolk County.
He is being questioned by District Attorney Morris in his investigation of Republican campaign methods of finance.
After the senior Senator from Massachusetts had been for some time closeted with the District Attorney in his private office, where the preliminary inquiry was begun, Mr. Moran came and made arrangements for the Grand Jury to receive him.
At 11:40 Senator Lodge was called from the office by Mr. Moran and introduced to the Grand Jury room. The three were behind the closed doors, where the District Attorney has hopes of securing some reliable signs regarding the receipt and disbursement of Republican state campaign funds.
The afternoon former Attorney General Parker and Lawyer John P. Morison, who defended Robert A. Taft, the Republican candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, were also present.
The Grand Jury, which is composed of 12 members, is now in session before the Grand Jury.

FORMER INMATE TELLS OF ABUSES AT FOXBORO

THREE HOSPITAL ATTENDANTS IN COURT CHARGED WITH ASSAULT ON PATIENT.

Charged with assault by Joseph A. Hicks, a former inmate of the Foxboro State Hospital, Harry White, Benjamin White and John Doyle, attendants at the institution, who had been summoned to appear before Judge Doe of the Walpole District Court, today faced the testimony of Hicks, which has been positively denied by the three hospital attendants.
The case was heard in the courtroom of the District Court, where the three attendants were charged with assault on the patient.
Hicks was the first witness for the prosecution. He said: "I lived in Foxboro and am an inmate of the Foxboro State Hospital, which has been positively denied by the three hospital attendants.
I was in the hospital on May 16, 1906, and was discharged on May 16. Since then I have not been able to work on account of the injuries I received there on the hands of the attendants.
On the night of January 2 I did not want to go to bed. I did not like the looks of the bed and the room was badly ventilated. Four attendants came into the room where I was lying. They did not want to let me go to bed. They were very rough and I started to go to my room. They jumped on me and when I was trying to take off my slippers they seized me and put me on a stretcher, tying my hands by my side and back and had to drag me up there. George Frazier then came in and he and the other attendants were then in the room and I started to go to my room. One of the guards put his knee into my stomach. Harry White said with an oath: 'Well, it's just so that you will go to bed and sleep.' I was taken to a room which is called the 'death room.' I was Greatest Criminal Lawyers in Country Associated in Defence of Man Who Shot Architect—District Attorney Plans to Put Mrs. Thaw on Rack Again.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Backed by millions of dollars on each side, it became known today that a gigantic battle in secret had begun as a result of the effort to send Harry Kendall Thaw to the electric chair for killing Stanford White, the famous architect.

The lawyers who have been retained to defend Thaw are among the most prominent in the country. They have been told to spare nothing in their efforts to free the young man. They have the full heart-breaking story of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the wife of the prisoner, and they believe that the recital of it on the witness stand will go a great way to win their case. Besides that, they have as witnesses more than a score of girls who were once friends of the slain man.

Big Lawyers to Aid State's Case.

White's relatives and his several influential friends have been in consultation with the most noted and highest-priced attorneys in the profession who have been retained to push the case against Thaw.
These lawyers have in most cases succeeded in hiding their identity thus far and say nothing in regard to the case, but it became known that they have already examined a number of persons who will in all probability become the most important witnesses for the prosecution when the trial begins.
The July grand jury is sworn in today and it was reported that this body would take up the Thaw-White case and that a second indictment might follow.

The assertion that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw called attention to the fact in a note to her husband that Stanford White was at Cafe Martin early on Monday evening, in connection with her exclamation when she heard the shots that her husband fired—"My God! He's shot him!"—are regarded as highly significant in view of the threatened action of the district attorney.

In connection with this phase of the case, the following decision of the Court of Appeals has been cited:
"To constitute one a principle in the felony he must be present at the commission of it. But he need not be so near as to be an eye and ear witness of the criminal act. His presence may be constructive and that constructive presence is made out when it is shown that he acted with another in the pursuance of a common design. A waiting and watching at a convenient distance is enough."
MAY CALL WIFE AGAIN BEFORE GRAND JURY.
It was declared today that Mrs. Thaw may be called before the Grand Jury again. When she appeared before that body when her husband was killed she refused to answer any questions about her acquaintance with White, and she was not permitted to do so.

It was virtually decided today after consultation between District Attorney Nesbit and Assistant District Attorney Not and Gavin to place Thaw on trial in the criminal branch of the Superior Court early in October.
From the number and character of the witnesses already examined or ordered to appear before Judge Nesbit Thaw of the Thaw trial today promises to become probably the most sensational, startling and remarkable New York case ever withstanding.
MANY WITNESSES SUMMONED.
A number of witnesses were summoned today by Assistant District Attorney Gavin, who has taken charge of the case. Among the other witnesses summoned were the following: James Lawrence Brown, member of the Thaw defense team, who was also a member and a close friend of White; W. C. Woodford and Trotter Reed of San Francisco are also expected to testify in the Thaw defense.
The Thaw defense team, who were retained by the Thaw family, are expected to call a number of witnesses who were once friends of the slain man. It is expected that the Thaw defense team will call a number of witnesses who were once friends of the slain man. It is expected that the Thaw defense team will call a number of witnesses who were once friends of the slain man.

It is not to be settled in the newspapers, although a certain section of the press has attempted to suggest the righteousness of the dead man having been shot down without a woman's warning.
The prosecution estimates absolutely conclusive in the matter. It is known that a strenuous effort is being made to sway public opinion in favor of the prisoner by methods that, at the best, can hardly be called reputable. It is undoubtedly to furnish the character of a dead man who cannot testify or testify in his own defense. It is undoubtedly to furnish the character of a dead man who cannot testify or testify in his own defense.

LAWYERS SEEK STRANGE RING WORN BY WHITE

NEW YORK, July 2. A peculiar ring worn by Stanford White when he was killed, and said to have been made in keeping with the life he led as a man of letters, is being sought by the district attorney's office.
It is said that this ring would throw some light upon the phase of the man's character which has been under investigation by both prosecution and defense in the Thaw case.
The ring was taken away from the Thaw family, and has been in the hands of the district attorney's office. It is said that the ring would throw some light upon the phase of the man's character which has been under investigation by both prosecution and defense in the Thaw case.

STATE COMMITTEE SCOUT FINDS REMARKABLE DEMAND FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

The John B. Moran is the favorite candidate for Governor of the Democratic ticket throughout the State, outside of Boston, and also of the voting rank and file. In the report that has been officially made to Joseph Quinn, chairman of the State Committee, and to Arthur Lusk, chairman of the Executive Committee of the State machine, by their trusted scout, Benjamin Ross, clerk of the State Committee, it is stated that the demand for the office of District Attorney is so great that it is almost impossible to fill it.

Mr. Ross, known every Democratic politician, past and present, in the State, five years ago he was sent out on "gunboat" expedition by the houses, with instructions to learn the condition of the party in every district. He spent six weeks in the field, and his report was so full of facts that it was not only a revelation to the State machine, but it was also a revelation to the Democratic party. He was particularly strong in the manufacturing
